

Invitation to the Apulian Mini-Symposium on Music Psychology, Education, and Neuroscience

Wednesday 10th of July, 2019

Venue: Seminar room "Nelson Mandela", Palazzo Chiaia-Napolitano, via Crizanzio 42, University of Bari

An event promoted by the Center for Music in the Brain (MIB), the Department of Clinical Medicine, Aarhus University (Denmark), the Department of Educational Sciences, Psychology and Communication at the University of Bari (Italy), and the CICERO Learning Network, University of Helsinki (Finland)

Organizers: Prof. Elvira Brattico, Prof. Roberto Caterina, Prof. Rosalinda Cassibba, Prof. Antonietta Curci

Chair: Prof. Elvira Brattico

- 8:45 Welcome
- 9:00 Naomi Ziv, PhD (College of Management, Israel): "Pro-peace or anti-war? The effect of protest songs' framing on empathy for the "enemy"
- 9:30 Roberto Caterina, Professor (Department of Psychology, University of Bologna, Italy): "The role of tradition and innovation in music and art education"
- 10:00 Elvira Brattico, Professor (Aarhus University, Denmark): "Benefits of musical training for cognitive, emotional and prosocial skills"
- 10:30 Coffee break
- 10:50 Antonio Criscuolo, Visiting fellow (Oxford University): "The musician's brain: Neuroanatomical changes associated with musical training"
- 11:10 Claudia Iorio, Psychologist (Conservatory of Naples, Italy): "Can mental practice be a pedagogic tool for improving memory in music performance?"
- 11:30 Giulia Donati, Psychologist (Department of Psychology, University of Bologna, Italy): "Individual cognitive abilities modulate the memorization of musical motifs in the brain"
- 11:50 Giulia Gaggero, MSc (University of Trento, Italy): "Intersubjective agreement and synchronicity during music listening"
- 12:10 Tiziana Quarto, PhD (University of Bari, Italy): "Sound environment and dopamine receptor gene affect mood and emotion-related brain activity"
- 12:30 Manon Grube, PhD (Aarhus University, Denmark): "Beat processing in the brain"
- 12:50 Alessandra Brusa, PhD fellow (University of Milano Bicocca, Italy): "Beauty and the brain: A neural investigation of beauty judgments during continuous listening to music"
- 13:10 Discussion and closing the day

All are welcome!

Background painting by Chiara Miotto

chiara.miotto@outlook.it